

The Free Will Players and Enbridge present

“Are my discourses dull? Barren my wit?” asks Adrianna, when her husband is late for dinner and not home early enough by her standards. Perhaps she should take a class at Camp Shakespeare to improve upon her wit and become a more lively conversationalist.

Welcome to Camp Shakespeare 2009 and The Comedy of Errors, a play filled with mistaken identity, twisted fates and the hilarity that ensues when two sets of identical twins, separated at birth, end up in the same town one insane afternoon in Ephesus. Our full-day camp, Shakespeare’s Mainstage, has become the most popular for teens, and our Shakespeare’s Clowns was overfull last year, so we are now offering an additional Clowns camp and our Mainstage Camp will be the only one offered to teens, ensuring them more instruction time and a longer final presentation. Participants in all camps will work with professional actors/instructors along with some artists from the 2009 Summer Repertory Company exploring the story, text, characters, design, music, and stage fighting from The Comedy of Errors. The week will culminate in a weekend matinee presentation/sharing on the main stage for family and friends, followed by refreshments and a chance to mingle with artists from the Company. Then, take your seat for the afternoon’s Main Stage performance.
